“Greatness is not found in possessions, power, position, or prestige. It is discovered in goodness, humility, service, and character.”

– William Arthur Ward

My Dear Students,

It gives me a great pleasure to interact with you once again. Friends, we need to devise a good strategy for a Successful Career. I would like to share with you, some of the important ingredients for a Successful Career...

What does one need for a successful career? Qualifications are important, but so are personal qualities. Degrees, diplomas and certificates or proper career planning? Just as a single ingredient cannot make a delicious dish, a single factor cannot script a glorious career. It is a myth that intelligence equals success. Not all intelligent people succeed; diligence is equally important. It is also believed that only good students (read: those who secure high marks) studying in reputed colleges can have a successful career. But in reality, high scores do not always translate into knowledge, a must for success.

It is difficult to lay down a formula for a successful career. Professional prosperity is the payoff for several criteria. Nowadays, emphasis is laid on certain personality traits that help a person become an asset to his or her organisation. This “X” factor gives an employee an edge over others. Qualities like integrity, tenacity, drive and grit are what employers look for in a prospective candidate, apart from academic and non-academic qualifications. I would like to list out some of the important traits for professional excellence.

1. Talk the Walk

Most of what goes on in an organisation is communication. So it is very important to have excellent communication skills in order to excel. It is a well-researched fact that in any business or social organisation, people with a good command of the English language are by default pushed to the position of leadership. English is no longer a foreign language. It is the accepted global language of communication. Hence proficiency in both written and verbal English is of utmost importance.

2. Listen to Others

The other side of the communication coin is being a good listener. The art of listening can help one score brownie points over his or her colleagues. Always listen to what others have to say. This shows respect for them. You also gain a lot from ‘active listening’, which means you pay attention to what is being said and incorporate changes that may have a positive effect on your career.

3. Pleasant Personality

It is very important to be sensitive to what others feel and praise genuinely. Sharing a good rapport with one’s colleagues as well as superiors benefits an individual’s professional life immensely. Give credit where it’s due. And do it genuinely. Cultivate a pleasing personality. The ‘smile’ factor will save you from trouble as well as ensure that people help you when you need a favour.

4. Be Confident

Know yourself. Know your strengths, weaknesses, personality type, learning style, goals, needs, constraints and resources. Keep reviewing your progress. You should know your limitations. If one is not aware of one’s potential, he or she may set unrealistic targets and thus lose credibility by not being able to achieve them.

5. Team Spirit

You have to be a team person if you want to make it big. No company can be a one-man show. The concept of teamwork is extremely important for the success of any individual. You can have a group of superstars but if they do not work well as one unit, they are not going to be successful.

6. Why of the Matter

Ask the “why” question. Youngsters are generally focused only on learning “how to”. But it is equally important to know “for what reason”. An important tip: whenever in doubt, find out. The one who knows the ‘how’ will always have a job, but the one who knows the ‘why’ will be his boss.

7. Persistence Pays

Perseverance is the key to success. Always try to improve yourself. Commitment to and passion in what one chooses to do, coupled with the determination to excel, is critical to success. Whatever you do, always keep thinking how you can improve on it or how it can be done in a better way. Don't get bogged down by problems. Keep looking for solutions.

From the President

8.All-Round Attention

Be an expert in a particular thing and at the same time try to develop multi-functional knowledge. In other words, one should be a jack-of-all-trades and master of one .

9.Be your own Leader

Self-control and discipline are critical. Eliminate the need for supervision. You are what you are when nobody is watching you. Your ability to focus on your work even when there is no one to oversee will determine your fate.

10.Do it the Right Way

Above all, values and integrity should never be compromised. Success is important, but you should not jeopardise your integrity or your organisation's reputation, for individual gain. Honesty always pays. Never compromise on the quality of work.

Always bear in mind that your own resolution to succeed is more important than anything else.

Placement Committee

With the growing expectations of members, placement services of the Institute become significant. Placement cells are being set up at the Regional Councils and Chapters level to ensure better employability of members in general and new members in particular. During the recent years, placement services particularly through campus placement have attained immense significance in the professional institutions across the country. Recently, Institute successfully organised campus placement in NCR Region. It is with a view to provide focussed attention to the placement of our members, the Council of the Institute constituted a Placement Committee to devise strategies and action plans for placement of members.

Placement Committee, at all level will also help the Students to find out a suitable opening as a Management Trainee.

Recognition of CS qualification for Ph.D

The Institute has always made earnest efforts to seek new recognitions for the CS qualification, and it has been successful in securing various recognitions for the CS qualification. Various Universities in the country have recognized the qualification of Company Secretaryship for pursuing Ph.D Course. So far 50 (fifty) Universities have recognised CS Qualification for pursuing Ph.D. programme. I am pleased to inform you that University of Jammu has recognized Company Secretaryship Qualification as equivalent to Masters Degree for pursuing Ph.D in Commerce/Management/Law.

It may be mentioned here that in the last 6 (six) months, I have met the Vice – Chancellor of various Universities throughout the Country to recognize the CS Profession for pursuing Ph.D Course and relaxation of some papers for pursuing LLB Course. We are awaiting for their positive response.

39th National Convention

In the emerging dynamic business environment where innovation predominates business strategies, the profession of Company Secretaries also need to move towards innovation orientation. It is in this backdrop, I am pleased to inform that the Council of the Institute has decided "Corporate Dynamism and Innovative Professionalism" as theme for the 39th National Convention of Company Secretaries scheduled to be held from October 13 to 15, 2011 at Jaypee Palace Hotel & Convention Centre at Agra, Uttar Pradesh. I request you to join this Convention and make the best use of interacting with Company Secretaries.

New Initiatives

I am glad to share with you that "E-Admit Card" has been quite successful and I am sure our decision of "E-Mark Sheet" will be beneficial to all of you who have appeared in June, 2011 Examinations.

Best Wishes

You must be eagerly awaiting for the Results of the June 2011 Examinations of the Institute, which will be announced on 25th August 2011 throughout the Country. I wish you all Best of Luck.

"When there is harmony between the mind, heart and resolution then nothing is impossible" – Rig Veda.

Wishing you happy Independence Day and with best wishes,

Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 2010-An Overview<sup>2</sup>

The Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 1976 was enacted to regulate the acceptance and utilization of foreign contribution or hospitality with a view to ensuring that our Parliamentary institutions, political associations, academic and other voluntary organizations as well as individuals working in important areas of national life may function in a manner consistent with the values of sovereign democratic republic. The Act was amended in 1984 to extend the provisions of the Act to cover second and subsequent recipients of foreign contribution and to the members of higher judiciary, besides introducing the system of grant of registration to the association receiving foreign contribution.

Significant development have taken place since 1984 such as change in internal security scenario, an increased influence of voluntary organizations, spread of use of communication and information technology, quantum jump in the amount of foreign contribution being received, and large scale growth in the number of registered organizations. This has necessitated large scale changes in the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 1976.
